Employment and Training Services

Kibble's Employment and Training Services are delivered through KibbleWorks, our social enterprise group which provides supported employment and training to young people (16-24) at the margins of the job market. KibbleWorks provides essential opportunities for young people attempting to access the labour market whether they are care leavers, unqualified school leavers or young adults excluded from entry level jobs by either availability or social circumstance.

What we offer:

Practical work experience, including work placements, work shadowing, and work trials.

Training courses, including vocational training, apprenticeships, and work-based learning.

Access to specialist support services, including mental health support, substance misuse support, and financial advice.

OUTCOMES

R In 2016, we achieved a record number of successful placements. Since then, we have continued to grow our network of social enterprises, providing a wide range of opportunities for young people. Our success is due to our strong partnerships with employers and our commitment to providing high-quality support and training.

Our young people are working in a variety of roles across our social enterprises.

Our young people have achieved a number of awards, including the Young Person of the Year Award and the National Young Person of the Year Award. This recognition is a testament to their hard work and dedication.
